

Public consultation

21 September to 1 November 2020

Unlocking rail capacity through Ely

We are consulting on proposals to increase rail capacity through Ely, providing better connectivity to key destinations, improving reliability and supporting the rail freight industry.

Residents and businesses in and around Ely are being invited to learn more about the work Network Rail has been doing to tackle the challenge of increasing rail capacity through Ely. From 21 September for six weeks, we will hold the first round of public consultation, where you will have the opportunity to have your say on:

- potential benefits of the programme
- the challenges that we have to address
- how we will consult the public
- current funding position

Have your say

Owing to the current Coronavirus situation, we are conducting this first round of public consultation via our website: networkrail.co.uk/Ely

There will be an opportunity for you to submit your views by completing our online survey as well as a chance to put your questions to our team via our live webchat facility on the website at specific times during the consultation period.
